ELECTION NEWS

BNP TO CONTEST ALL OF ENGLAND!

IN A BOLD MOVE, the British National Party has reacted to the news from BBC broadcasting house that the party must contest every single region within any of the four British nations to obtain a Party political broadcast on television, by declaring that the party would increase its effort from the five regions previously decided upon — London, West Midlands, North West, South West and Yorkshire & Humberside to take in all nine. This means in addition, contesting England South East — the biggest of the UK's regions, England East, England North East and the East Midlands.

Party opponents are reported to be dismayed at the underlying strength of the party to be able to mount such a concerted challenge to surmount all obstacles to reach its target — the hearts and minds of the British people through the TV medium.

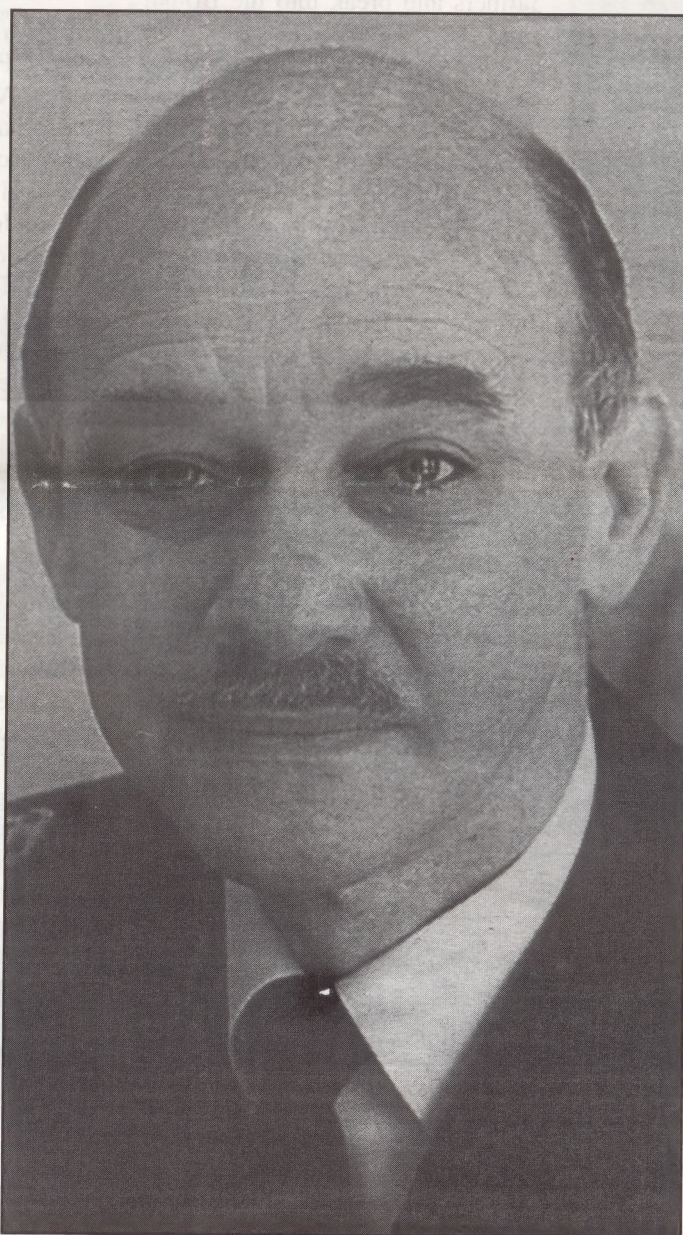

The announcement from Broadcasting House is a clear attempt to thwart the BNP's participation in the democratic process. Rules already agreed upon for the next Parliamentary elections, probably either in 2001 or 2002, give any party contesting one-sixth of the seats a TV party broadcast. Welsh assembly and Scottish parliamentary elections also give a TV broadcast for any party contesting more than one-sixth of the available seats.

The move away from the one-sixth principle is clearly designed to stop the BNP, which was already well over the one-sixth mark. While the new measures for minor parties have yet to be made public, the BNP has already accepted the challenge and is to go for all of England. Party leader John Tyndall said that he wasn't about to let the bureaucrats of the BBC stop the BNP or prevent the party from obtaining its democratic rights.

Other minor parties such as the Greens, the Liberals, Socialist Labour, United Kingdom Independence Party and the Socialist Party are, as yet, unaware of the harsh new conditions for them to 'get on the box' — and all because the establishment is attempting to stop the BNP! The BNP will, in the interest of democracy, be alerting these parties as to the new conditions.

Nevertheless, the new conditions mean that the party must redouble its efforts particularly with regard to fund-raising, and the party's £50,000 Euro fund target has now been increased to £75,000. With the fund presently standing at around £40,000, thirty-five-thousand pounds must be found quickly! If there is a millionaire reading this, now is the time to make yourself known. In the meantime, party groups and branches need to take a serious look at their efforts so far and do far more to meet this challenge.

RACE HATE CRIMES AGAINST WHITES ON INCREASE

Police chief Eric Hewitt:
"Three out of four victims are white."

THE LAST TEN YEARS has seen a huge rise in the number of race hate attacks against white people. Whites all over the country are literally coming under the cosh as they fall victim to the race hate attackers.

In March of last year, Oldham police Chief Superintendent Eric Hewitt said that three-quarters of all racist attacks in Oldham involved white victims.

At the end of last month, Bradford's top police chief confirmed the continuing trend of attacks against whites by saying that more than half of all racial attacks in Bradford involved white victims.

But for all the notice the media take, one could be excused for thinking that only one race murder has taken place in the last year or so, that of Stephen Lawrence a black youngster killed by several whites. But Lawrence was actually murdered more than five years ago. Since then a rash of race hate murders have seen at least one white victim fall prey to the race hate monsters every year. David Ackley, Richard Everitt, Andrew Steventon, Danny Westmacott, Phillip Lawrence, Mark Sharp, Gary Wilmer, Louie Wade, Christopher Farrell and Michael Dooher. That's ten murder victims of anti-white race hate thugs. Not one, TEN!

During the same time period, three more young whites can count themselves 'lucky' not to also figure on that list. Little Daniel Moore, 12, was beaten into a coma by 20 racist Asians; Gareth Wilshaw was set upon by three racist blacks outside a Nottingham night club who kicked and stamped him into a coma screaming "White bastard."; and 8-year-old Jamie Jackson from Halifax was set on fire by three race hate Asian thugs who could have killed him.

But the ten above are not the only victims. Others have also died at the hands of the race killers: Terry May, Catherine Ayling, Paul Carter, Albert Marriner, Janie Shepherd, Hugh McCallum and Phillip Gosling. Where is the travelling media circus surrounding these murders? Don't white victims count? Is the BNP the only group speaking up for white victims and against the violence? It seems so.

The evil of multi-racialism destroys all races, all cultures in an insane effort to erase racial and cultural differences and so leads to needless social strife. The BNP wishes to end that strife — and that means ending the madness of the multi-racial experiment. That is the only sure way to stop the race attacks — all of them.

TEBBIT'S CRICKET TEST

Five 'Britons' have been seized in Yemen on charges of conspiracy to cause terrorism. Specifically, they are accused of a bomb plot against British targets.

Listeners to radio reports and readers of the national press were not informed of a significant fact concerning the five, and which would have explained much: All were Muslim. It was 'too sensitive', too 'politically incorrect', and so the media denied the British people the full facts.

Foreign Secretary Cook, the man Blair recently called 'superb', but who wrecked the Queen's visit to India was eager to throw his weight around and so called upon the Yemenis to charge the five or let them go. The Yemenis have obliged and duly charged them.

The five young men claim to have been tortured, and very likely that is true. That fact, however, doesn't make them innocent!

Osama bin Laden has called upon the faithful everywhere to kill the infidel Americans and British because public opinion of both countries showed support for the allied airstrikes. The public are now a target!

This was much the same story which BN reported upon back in September. Then, BN reported that Omar Bakri Mohamed, leader of al-Muhajiroun and resident in London said that the British would be "legitimate targets" in an Islamic war of terror against America if the airstrikes went ahead. That story was never taken up by our 'free and democratic press'. It was instead left to Radio 4 and British Nationalist.

It has taken the arrest of five young men supposedly going to visit relatives in Pakistan to turn up in Yemen and be arrested with global satellite phones and plans of the British consulate there. The Yemenis say that the consulate was the target.

Some years ago, Norman Tebbit asked aloud how many immigrants would pass the cricket test.

However many did, the answer was always obvious that a good few would not! The evil of multi-racialism has not just spawned crime and despair, it has spawned a terrorist threat too.

FARMING INCOMES FALL TO NEW LOW

Farm incomes have declined by between one-half and three-quarters in the past year.

Every farmer is affected from the smallest to the largest, although it is the small farmers, and pure livestock farmers who are being hardest hit.

Sheep auctioned for seven pence each (after transport costs); ewes being shot because farmers could not afford to sell them at a loss; pig farmers losing £20 on every animal they sell; farmers committing suicide because they can see no way out.

John Yeoman, Farmer: selling up

These are the realities of farming in Britain today. The industry is in deep decline and the future is bleak.

It needn't be this way. Every nation needs food and in the interests of food security, employment and freshness it makes sense to be as near self-sufficient as possible.

But from the time the government removed a guaranteed floor price for farmers, relentless competition in many instances through state funding of foreign farmers has driven British farmers to the brink. The crisis is affecting all farmers no matter whether they produce pigs, sheep, beef, poultry, dairy products, fruit, vegetables or grain. At the same time, relentless pressure from the EU has seen British farmers disadvantaged to suit continental farmers. Dairy farmers not being allowed to produce the milk they wanted was an early scam dreamed up by the French to aid their own farmers and break into the British market.

John Yeoman is one farmer whose family have been farming for 600 years but who is getting out while he still can without bankruptcy.

Others cannot take the battering to their pride and livelihoods and take their own lives. Eric Rhodes of Heys Farm, Diggle is one such. He hanged himself just after the New Year after selling all his sheep and pigs. Andrew Potts, a dairy farmer was another. As milk prices plummeted he also hanged himself at his farm near Macclesfield. Farmers' tend to be a hardy lot — resourceful and independent. But one farmer a week is committing suicide out of total despair and misery!

Hill Farmer: hundreds are on the brink of bankruptcy

Poultry Farmer: Waiting for a 'chicken BSE' scare to ruin the business

Richard Bretton (left) a hill farmer in Teesdale is contemplating his future after selling 70 sheep for little more than a third of what he got for them last year. And he is not alone. The crisis is affecting thousands of farmers — a whole industry.

The mood is desperate, and growing more militant. Beef farmer Richard Haddock from Devon said of some of his farming colleagues: "It worries me. They are planning to do silly things. I have even heard threats of [electricity] pylons being blown up. They could bring the country to a standstill."

The threat of desperate action has obviously been taken seriously, since many farmers' demonstrations are now being filmed by police video teams to build up profiles on the traditional backbone of any country — it's farmers.

45 per cent of farmers now have incomes of £10,000 or less and 58 per cent believe the industry will continue to decline. Farmers' borrowings have increased and farmers' total incomes have declined from £4.1 billion three years ago to just £800 million last year.

Interestingly, while farmers' prices have seen an average 57 per cent decrease, these savings have not been passed on to the housewife.

Supermarkets all over the country are making huge profits from the crisis by using their huge purchasing power to drive down prices to the farmers but keeping them up on their supermarket shelves.

Farmers have in desperation turned to their union — the National Farmer's Union, only to find that it is in the control of the 'big' farming interests and is a body so spineless and universally detested by the farmers themselves, that at a number of farmers have written in asking to be expelled.

Many farmers are turning to the BNP because the party supports British!

My England

What's happened to this England,
To this beloved Isle,
The country of my fathers,
Of cottage, meadow, stile.

What's Happened to our City streets,
That once were paved with gold,
And where I used to wander,
With heart so proud and bold.

There was no fear upon me then,
As I wandered through the night,
Whether City street or country lane,
Safety was our right.
The darkness held no terror then,
Of the mugger with his knife.

What's happened to this England,
To my beloved Isle?
My heart it cries in anguish,
My soul is in despair,
My country is in ruins,
And all we do... is stand and stare.

What's Happened to this England,
That once was proud and strong,
The finest land there was some said,

But now, alas, that's wrong.

The men that run the country,
They've brought us to despair,
With their lies and innuendoes,
They just don't seem to care,
They have no moral fibre,
They have no sense of shame,
All in all they're rotters,
And they never play the game.

It's them that's ruined England,
And brought us to our knees,
And some say lined their pockets,
They'll have their 30 silver pieces,
They won't go cold and hungry,
These men in fine grey suits,
With their cold eyes,
And their cold hearts,
And their mistresses to boot.

If this it were a fairy tale,
Then England fine would be,
But alas it's true and woe is me,
We're ruined, Don't you see.

Mrs. Colson-Smith.

Meanwhile, there isn't enough money for the NHS!

NHS CRISIS

Frank Dobson, the incompetent Health Secretary finally admitted that the NHS is in crisis, but then immediately said: "Don't blame me for it."

Dobson also admitted that trained nurse shortfalls leading to hospitals having to import foreign nurses was a "disgrace."

The reason for the continuing shortfalls is that pay levels within the profession have fallen so low that it is simply no longer an attractive proposition. Worried about a pay wrangle with the 'angels' hard on the heels of the hospital system breaking down under the strain of an entirely predictable surge in winter flu admissions, Labour

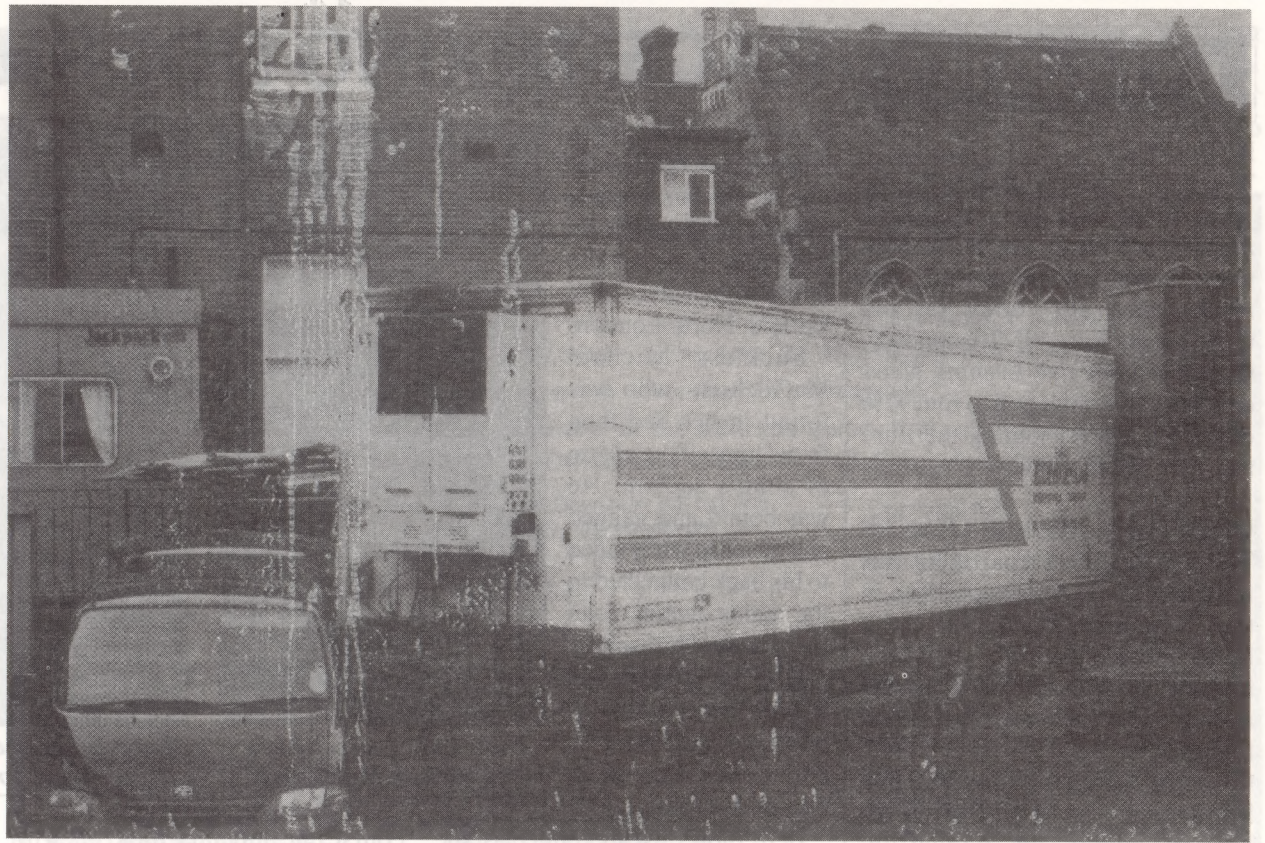

Frank Dobson:
Incompetent blusterer

defused the hospital pay row by raiding the sum set aside to improve facilities. The NHS is set to go creaking along. Tory spending limits on the NHS are unlikely to be broken since Labour is keeping vast piles of cash in reserve to keep Britain on course to join the Euro.

The current NHS fetish with 'improved bed management' simply means cutting the number of spare beds back to the bone. As BN has commented before, that's all very well until a rail disaster or an air crash or, as has unbelievably happened this winter, an entirely predictable surge in admissions with flu.

Labour's pay award for nurses, 12% for those newly qualified, while being welcome and long overdue will, however, mean that the proposed improvements in facilities and bed capacity simply won't happen.

But while there is no money for hospital improvements, London hospitals last year were putting £285,000 into Gay Men Fighting AIDS, for the purposes of running bondage and sado-masochism courses for homosexuals. A journalist writing for the Spectator said the course was about how to tie men up, cobble together perverting kits of sandpaper, rope & candles as well as how to pick up homosexuals in parks, lavatories, churches and "the vegetable counter at Tesco!"

Container lorry serving as a mobile mortuary in a hospital car park

Quite aside from establishment approval of this degeneracy marking a new low in public morals, what a waste of money! Hundreds of millions of pounds have been spent fighting AIDS — another homosexual pet project, when far more people are suffering from cancer. The clue to the bias in funding is to be found in the disproportionate number of pervers in parliament!

● But it's not only health which is suffering. Schools are too with regular underfunding. Last year, one headmaster, Roger Brown of Wrenthorpe primary in Wakefield actually took on a second job to raise money to avoid staff cuts and the inevitable raising of class sizes!

What Health and Education need is more funding. But Britain is the third poorest country in Europe, a result of free trade and the EU. That's the legacy of the Tory and Labour parties.

December 8th 1998 wasn't much different from any other day. Trade Secretary Peter Mandelson smugly contemplated a £373,000 bung — well, loans are usually interest based and repaid; due to the kidnapping of their revered elder statesman, Chile had ended its special relationship with Britain; French ports were besieged by Britain's economic refugees; Europe's interest rates were half Britain's and officially we are the third poorest country in Europe. Hospital corridors are overflowing and a third world doctor pronounces conditions among the worst he has seen. More job losses are announced as Home Office Ministers tackle the problem of child prostitution on Britain's streets.

It must be bad. Despite a CV and work record second to none I find employment impossible to come by and for the first time in forty years I set out to sign on at the Job Centre. After a lifetime paying in, I need a little back.

Sure it's humiliating but there are times in your life when you have to swallow your pride and 'do what a man's gotta do'. Anyway, I console myself with the thought that I am drawing on forty years of savings. Everyone else was raiding my piggy bank so why shouldn't I?

'THEY COULDN'T FIND MY DYING GRANNY A BED'

Yes, there it was in the Daily Mail that very morning. 'They Couldn't Find my Dying granny a bed But They opened the Ward to Romanian refugees. A few columns down I read that so-called refugees are costing you and I £300 million each year — a gross underestimate as it turns out.

They're getting £255.00 a month income support, 36,000 of them pull an extra £356.99 housing benefit and 21,000 add £42 to that in council tax benefit. These gate crashers also get free use of my roads, utilities, schools, medical and educational facilities — all manner of things that you and I have paid for. If these non-investors get all that, what could I be on for?

Joining the throng in the Job Centre, I fell into conversation with something of a rough diamond, an unemployed road worker. "We should be all right. Look at what these guys are getting," I said, as I pushed the newspaper under his nose.

"And the rest." He shrugs. "There's three of them working on our gang; cash in the hand every day and drawing social security at the same time. They can't keep the grins off their faces; they've never seen so much cash. It's not right. They're taking our jobs."

Stung by the injustice of it all I nevertheless keep my thoughts to myself. My casual acquaintance, defeated by the system, wants only to put his own affairs in order, not put the world to rights.

Eventually I found myself at a reception desk and explain my predicament. Handed a thick book of forms to fill in, I am told to come back in two days time.

Intimidated by the volume and ambiguity of the questions, I head for a solicitor's lair which masquerades as a Welfare Rights Office. Here, a careworn clerk explains that unless I actually have a rent contract (a rent book won't do) I can forget it. I will be subject to official cynicism and unannounced visits by officials who will want to see my separate bedroom, living space, cupboard and kitchen facilities (I presume that my landlady's bed will be felt for warmth in two places).

A swift mental calculation and I see that the gypsies are ahead of me by £452.59 per month, and I wonder if I should go out of the country again, acquire a suntan and a story, and then try again?

Two days later on the 10th December I return to the Job Centre, mingle with society's disinherited and await the humiliating interrogation. Rapidly the clerk's pen scratches, poises and puts a question here and there. As much for my own sense of dignity as for his own information I explain that it's all a bit of a mystery to me. I have never drawn a week's dole in a lifetime of working; never made any claims on the State whatsoever.

He shrugs. He has heard it all before and couldn't care less. Eventually I depart with my signing on book. When will I receive my £50.35? What shall I live on until I do? Well, they can't be expected to know everything can they? Fortunately my landlady is more charitable than the administrators of the nest egg I have been accumulating for the last forty years.

A week passes and I get an unannounced visit from a functionary from the Benefits Agency. I wonder if Romanian road workers get them too. For an hour or more he goes through the paperwork (and landlady's coffee) taking my life apart piece by piece. I ask him if my unblemished claim-free record counts for nothing. He smiles condescendingly and tells me that I am just a number to be processed. By the time he is finished I am totally dismembered and still waiting for my £50.35.

CHRISTMAS DAY IN THE WORK HOUSE

Time passes and I live on the charity of friends. It is now the day before Christmas Eve and I face the bleakest Christmas of my life with my pockets hanging out. I can just about afford cards for my children.

Telephoning the Job Centre I ask when I might expect to receive my pittance and am told that a three week wait isn't unusual. They don't explain what I am supposed to live on for three weeks.

My sense of outrage reaches boiling point and after pouring it over the page I deliver it by hand to the Job Centre. In it I explain that I paid into the system for forty years, and I never took a penny out of it. "Yet never once did it occur to you to drop me a Christmas card to say, 'Thank you Tommy Atkins for your charity — and for providing me with a job.'"

After several similar observations I end by fervently wishing that their Christmas pudding lodges firmly in their throats and then tell them to stuff their miserable dole.

Such was my experience without exaggeration or embellishment. I don't know which stings the sensibilities most; the sheer injustice or the awareness that this humiliation is inflicted upon me and my fellow citizens by my own kind every single week.

WE'VE HAD IT ALL BEFORE

Close on a thousand years ago the Normans invaded England and ruthlessly subordinated a peasantry defamed by their Saxon tongue. Those French rulers, surrounded by bung-laden sycophants and others with shabbily acquired privilege milked the peasants dry.

An ordinary man's life was of endless toil with the barest minimum of reward. He was taxed to the sword's hilt and at the sword's point. He knew his under-the-thumb place and had no illusions of democracy, his wishes were ignored. A tournament or two was held to keep him amused, his loyalty (and life) was demanded by the landowners. He needed a travel permit and if he broke his ruler's law or became unemployed he became an outcast, an outlaw merely to survive. He lived his life in a peasant's hovel which he paid for and which was confiscated by the barons on his death. He was buried in a plot paid for by his own hand or those of his nearest and dearest.

HERE IT IS ALL OVER AGAIN

They say that history repeats itself. It does so only as long as life reflects the human greed and corruption that comes naturally to power-abusers, those given authority over others. Ask yourself honestly: are you any different from those Saxon peasants, are your present days rulers and their sycophants any different from those Norman conquerors?

According to the latest figures, you will work solely for the Chancellor of the Exchequer until late June each year. That is the proportion of your wages paid in taxes both on your income and on the goods you buy. You will finally be taxed on anything you manage to put aside or leave in your will and your home confiscated.

You will vote every five years, even as your rulers laugh at your wishes and tear up their promises. They will pass laws that deny you your rights and your privilege as a citizen. You may attend tournaments and watch their television; give up your sons to their trade wars while wrapping yourself in the lie that it was for 'freedom' they died — because you couldn't live with the truth.

STALIN DIDN'T GO THIS FAR

Even as I write, laws are being prepared to deny you the right to automatic travel. Worse, you will each have to attach a 'criminal record sheet' to job applications. There are six million of you out there with criminal records including those of you who were acquitted by your peers. Each of you will bear forever the Mark of Cain on your foreheads as the Jews wore Stars of David in Hitler's Germany. You too, branded as aliens in your own country; as outcasts and outlaws by the stroke of a pen.

You may buy your own home and the land it stands on over and over again endlessly. You will never own it. You delude yourself. It and the land will always belong to the state and you will lie in un-mourned graves beside your Saxon forebears.

Only one thing has changed. There was then a man with the courage to say, enough. This blameless outlaw inspired and led the similarly disenfranchised peasantry. They took nothing from the parasite state but denied it the sweat of their labour. Now, each of you must be your own latter day Robin of Locksley and from this moment on free yourself. Only thus can you say, I have broken the chains of state tyranny. Then and only then can you stand as a free man.

ARISE — BE FREE AGAIN!

You should make it your duty to avoid all forms of taxation, living by barter wherever you can. It should be your duty above all else to milk the state dry and use it as your milch cow. As you succeed you should offer a tithe to your band of comrades. You must recognise that the state has declared war on you and that you must involve yourself both individually and in bands as resisters of tyranny. Then and only then will you have begun the long march back to the supremacy of the common man.

Tommy Atkins

BN BRIEFING

EUROPOLL

The West Country newspaper, the Western Morning News conducted a postal poll as to whether Britain should join the single currency. The results were: 281 voting Yes and 6,255 voting No — 95.7% opposed.

● The Manchester Evening News conducted a similar poll to find 92% of people against joining the Euro and only 8% in favour.

UK CRIME — WORSE THAN US

The US Justice Department has released figures showing crime in the UK is worse than in America per head of population. Burglary is 60% higher, robbery 50% higher and assault and vehicle theft is twice as high.

● Crime now costs Britain £35 billion per year, nearly twice the amount spent on education. Equivalent to £31 per week for every household in the country.

CRIME DROPS IN RAINBOW NATION

South Africa's murder figure has fallen for the first time since black majority rule to 18,000 last year, or two every hour. There were also 36,400 rapes — one every fifteen minutes; along with 11,500 car hijackings and 170,000.

THE BNP AND RACE

The BNP is best known for its policy on race and immigration. The BNP opposes immigration into the UK from whatever its source. For forty years this immigration has primarily been coloured. But it is not an issue of colour since the party is equally opposed to immigration from Albania and Eastern Europe.

The BNP is not a 'race supremacist' party. The BNP does not claim that any one race is superior to any other, simply that they are different. The party merely wishes to preserve those differences which make up the rich tapestry of human kind.

Neither has the BNP any connection with 'race hate'. Indeed it is the multi-racialists who are the haters since it is they who are determined to destroy all cultures and all races to achieve

RACE-MIXING DOESN'T WORK!

Serial race-mixer Beth Kenton got her come-uppance when former boyfriend Terry John turned up in the middle of the night at her flat in Enfield, North London.

Luckless Michael McGilchrist who was found in her bed then found himself the victim of John's sadism. He was bound and gagged and then had wires taped to his back connected to the mains switch. John then amused himself by trying to electrocute Beth's new lover, in between beating him with a stick and cutting him with a knife.

Beth didn't escape either as she was repeatedly raped by John who was high on crack.

Later, John humiliated his two victims by forcing them to perform sexual intercourse for his enjoyment. Kenton and McGilchrist's ordeal lasted for 35 hours.

John, who was found guilty of false imprisonment, rape and ABH, received 10 years imprisonment.

If stupid Beth Kenton thought that race-mixing might give her a taste of the exotic, she certainly found it!

● Another stupid woman, this time 65-year-old Joyce Johanssen thought that holiday beau, Egyptian Abdou El-Niggar, 31, really did love her when he said that he wanted to marry her. After marrying, of course, he left and took up with another woman entirely. What did she expect?

● Not all race-mixing whites are women! Social inadequate Tim Canham couldn't find himself a wife in Britain and so he looked elsewhere. Ornsri, 23, a Thai, seemed to fit the bill, so silly Canham spent £40,000 and five years trying to bring her to Britain. When she got here, she dumped him and quite right too. What a loser!

Canham did at least get it right in the end: 'I've been made to look like a fool,' he said. 'But if I stop one other man doing the same I will have at least achieved something.'

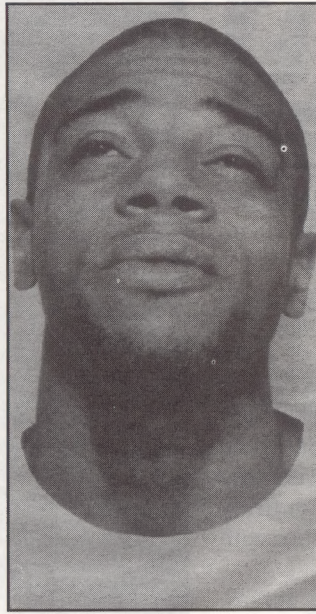

killed himself.

● The Old Bailey heard how a naive 17-year-old girl from Cheshire who moved to London to get a job as a nanny was raped by one Loel James.

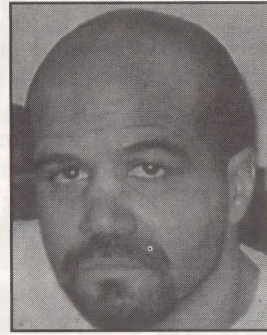

James' chat up line, apparently, was: 'Are you a racist?' The only way to reject his predatory advances was, of course, to say 'Yes,' but the teenage girl said instead: 'Skin is skin. It does not bother me if you are black, white, Chinese or Indian." She could hardly refuse him after that, or she would have been called a liar!

And so it proved. James raped her and yet another girl has found out the hard way the evil consequences of multi-racialism. BN doubts she'll trot out the "skin is skin" line again!

SPECIAL BN TRIBUTE TO PADDY ASHDOWN

Last month, Westminster was all agog at the resignation of Liberal Democrat leader Paddy Ashdown. BN will not be joining in the chorus of praise.

Ashdown betrayed his wife by having an affair with his former secretary immediately after becoming Lib-Dem leader and earned the nickname 'Paddy

The Sun and Paddy

Pantsdown'. After this betrayal, voters wondered if he would betray them too.

Ashdown did so at every opportunity! He constantly denigrated Britain and said that it was too weak and small to go it alone outside the EU — a lie shown up by dozens of successful and independent nations around the world. As would be expected, he has been a keen supporter of the coming Euro occupation currency.

Ashdown's other 'achievement', not to say betrayal, was to have called for the complete resettlement of all six million Hong Kong Chinese in Britain.

Are we dealing with 'asylum seekers' or opportunists? If supposed asylum seekers are fleeing from oppression and tyranny, why don't they stop and scream 'sanctuary' when they're safely across their borders and into the welcoming arms of Western Europe?

These displaced people usually pass through several safe havens before crossing the Channel.

Why do they reject the plenty of Italy, Germany, Holland, France and even bountiful Belgium? It must be because they seek not mere safety, shelter, food and silver but also the veritable pot of gold handed to them by our government.

K. Morris, letters, Daily Mail.

"I have a fair amount of contact with many refugees. Some are genuine but a large number are not. I have every sympathy with genuine refugees but many are briefed on what to say before they arrive in this country. Their stories are identical. It's the poor in Folkestone who suffer, who find their jobs have gone, or that they are at the bottom of a longer housing list or can't get on to social services lists because the system is all clogged up."

Rev. John Tapper,
Holy Trinity, Folkestone.

Britain's farming is in turmoil and American farm prices are in freefall. Why? Because of stupid political and economic obsessions with the failed doctrine of world free trade. That doctrine is still being peddled hard by Mr Blair and Mr Clinton and their ragtag mob of followers. It is a barbarous doctrine driven by the reckless greed of the international money machine on the back of sweated labour.

The main beneficiaries of world free trade will be a small number of unaccountable commodity traders who make a profession out of destabilising world commodity supplies and prices for their own ends. That will spell disaster for farmers, rich and poor worldwide.

A free market in agricultural products will destroy food security where it exists and hand over control

Those countries that can do so (the majority) should aim for food self-sufficiency.

On the altar of world free trade, managed markets have been dismantled. For all the criticisms of quotas, they are a great deal preferable for farmers than the bankrupt madhouse of unregulated free markets grotesquely distorted by power groups. The entirely predictable collapse of the Freedom to Farm scheme in the USA is further evidence of the need for managed farm markets.

Britain used to have an excellent system of deficiency payments for many farm products while producing enough temperate food for home consumption. That was a sensible policy which provided stability and a floor price. Free markets do not provide a floor price; on the contrary, they drive farmers into bankruptcy. The deficiency payment scheme was eventually undermined by widespread over-production encouraged by intensive farming and former Conservative prime minister Ted Heath's sell-out to Europe. The deficiency payment scheme was the nearest Britain has been to fair trade pricing because it took costs of production into account. It was a cost-plus system that was responsive to the market. Nothing currently on offer from the EU or the WTO comes anywhere near fitting the bill.

Neither do we have any home-grown solution. Meanwhile, the competition watchdogs lack the guts, or political will, to smash the monopoly powers of the multiple food retailers, many of whom financed the present government's election campaign. That's why we have seen no action on the Food Standards Agenda or in tackling supermarket abuse of power. The ludicrous notion that the government can, or should, delegate its responsibility for the success of British agriculture to either the fools' paradise of the EU doomsday machine or to the commodity trader-dominated jungle of world free trade is dangerous, irresponsible and potentially disastrous for this country. How can fair trade principles be adopted in the developed world to ensure the prices farmers receive for their products are realistically related to the production costs incurred? Free trade has been tried and it has failed. For the past 50 years or so, British governments have regulated food production without any sector in the food supply chain exerting any disproportionate economic power. Now the balance has become weighted against food producers. In short, government failure to break the monopolistic powers of the multiple retailers is now working against the national interest. How much money do farmers' organisations need to pay New Labour by way of bribes in order to get their case heard? Would £3m be about right?

STOP LABOUR'S ATTACK ON THE WELFARE STATE!

Last year, many people voted Labour to rid the country of the Tories and bring an end to their corruption and the misery they imposed. Many hoped that Labour would reverse the cuts that the Tories had made. Thousands have been disillusioned as it has become apparent that Labour will simply follow the Tories' heartless policies even more brutally. They are getting away with it in a way that the Tories never could, simply because they are Labour.

Old folk have seen hopes of a fairer pension dashed with yet another Labour 'review'. Meanwhile they have been given a £20 stop over the winter to keep them quiet. The scandal is that since Thatcher broke the earnings-related link with pensions, pensioners are now down £23 per week. OAPs must wonder whether they really did finish on the winning side in the war, when Germany can treat its old folk so much better.

LABOUR'S BROKEN PROMISES
After breaking their promises to pensioners, Labour put the boot into students hoping for a decent education. Labour says that students must take on crippling debt if they want to go on to university. The Labour politicians who say this have already had their free education!

Showing their contempt for ordinary people even further, Labour are punishing abandoned single parents by confiscating their benefits, and the next on the hit-list are the sick in receipt of sickness benefit. Labour hope that cutting the pittance of those on sickness benefit will rake in even more money than attacking single mums. Welfare to work, may be very well, but there has to be jobs out there in the first place!

For many who voted 'new' Labour, the penny is starting to drop. 'New' Labour = Old Tories; Tony Blair is Tony Blair. Labour are the Tory Party in disguise! The Labour party has abandoned ordinary working people. Labour are more interested in 'gay', ethnic and their rich money-bags backers. The British National Party says it's time to stop wasting £500m on over-paid advisory committees stuffed with Labour councillors, bogus asylum-seekers, and foreign handouts. The BNP says: stop the cuts and put our own people FIRST!

STOP THE RACE ATTACKS!

A White boy lies in a coma close to death on a life support machine because politicians have forced an unworkable multi-racialism upon us with all the violence that entails.

Little Daniel Moore, aged 12, was attacked by a gang of 20 racist Asians armed with bricks, bottles and lumps of wood. He had been playing football with two friends when the 20 older youths chased the three, screaming "You pieces of white trash." Poor Daniel couldn't get away and died no chance as the 20 battered him near to death. It wouldn't be acceptable if whites had attacked an Asian boy and this attack is not acceptable either. While the media took up the story, there was no linking of this attack to others showing a definite trend of attacks against whites.

Only four months before this, an eight-year-old in Halifax was racially attacked by three older Asians who beat him, set him on fire and ran off laughing. At the same time in London, 15 white boys playing football, aged 14-16, were attacked by 20 older Asians armed with knives, bottles and axes. More Asians joined in to ensure that the boys could not escape, and horrific injuries were inflicted. There is a near conspiracy of silence in the media about these and other attacks. LAST YEAR NO FEWER THAN FOUR WHITES WERE MURDERED BECAUSE OF THEIR SKIN: Christopher Farrall, Andrew Stevenson, Mark Sharp and Danny Westmacott. But the media only talk about the murder of black Stephen Lawrence. Don't white victims count? Is the BNP the only group speaking up for white people and against the violence? Yes! But you'll not be reading that in the controlled media!

The BNP says: stop the racial attacks — ALL OF THEM!

STOP THE BUILDING!

A TIDAL WAVE of development is wrecking hundreds of villages and market towns. A flood of concrete is destroying thousands of acres of prime farmland, beauty spots and the habitats of rare and endangered wildlife.

What is planned around here is only a small part of the big picture. Up to 1,000 square miles of virgin countryside are to be bulldozed to make way for an official target of 4.4 million new homes by the year 2016.

In fact, it's going to be even worse than that! The 4.4 million figure was decided on by the Conservatives before the last general election, but Labour Government planners are now working on a revised figure of 5.5 million new houses. That means that even more of our heritage is going to be destroyed. In the words of Labour planning minister, Richard Caborn: "The green belt is up for grabs."

The worst thing of all is that the resulting destruction of rural communities, wildlife and farmland is totally unnecessary. There are hundreds of thousands of acres of derelict land in and around Britain's cities and towns. If this land were redeveloped, there would be plenty of new homes, and none of the extra traffic jams and pollution which will be caused by people commuting from new dormitory towns into the cities.

But reclaiming urban wasteland is less profitable than bulldozing our countryside, so the politicians — councillors and MPs alike — get big back-handers from the developers and construction companies in return for allowing them to concrete over fields, woods and villages.

That's why the only way to stop the building is to throw out the old politicians. But reclaiming urban wasteland is less profitable than bulldozing our countryside, so the politicians — councillors and MPs alike — get big back-handers from the developers and construction companies in return for allowing them to concrete over fields, woods and villages.

If you agree that it's time to take action to preserve Britain's countryside, then you've got to help to build a completely new political force, which is pledged to put the interests of the British people as a whole before those of greedy developers or bought-and-paid-for politicians.

HANG CHILD MURDERERS!

The vast majority of people agree that the death penalty should be reintroduced for child killers. Yet neither Conservatives, Labour nor Liberal Democrats are prepared to back such a measure into law. Parliament is supposed to represent the people. But the do-gooders who sit in Government are more concerned with the rights of murderers than with the safety of our children. Sick child killers are kept in prison, often in relative luxury and at vast expense, until such time as they are released to kill again. Others such as Ian Brady and Myra Hindley are a constant reminder to the tragic parents of their victims. All those like Brady and Hindley, gave up the right to live the moment they took a young life. With more and more of these cases occurring it is time for the death penalty to be reintroduced. A country which allows the killers of its children to live is morally bankrupt. Only the British National Party is committed to the reintroduction of the death penalty for child killers.

Rebuild Britain now!

HEALTH AND WELFARE
Those in work are being financially crushed by the burden of paying for a growing alienated underclass — drug addicts, habitual criminals, benefit cheats and the rest. Our taxes are wasted on a welfare state that has grown out of control. There is no incentive to decent people to have families. "Trendy" outreach workers and the race relations circus represent a unproductive, costly industry, the burden of which is paid from our pockets. Our National Health Service is facing cuts due to massive bureaucratic wastage. The welfare state should only be a safety net for the genuinely needy.

A DECENT EDUCATION
Education is in a mess. "Trendy" teachers have destroyed discipline in the classroom. Ironically, teachers are now regularly assaulted by disruptive pupils. Drug-taking is rife. Too many children leave school unable to take their places in society as useful citizens. In...add of learning about British traditions and heroes, children are taught "multi-culturalism". There must be a return to traditional teaching methods. Competitive sports must again be encouraged. Grammar schools must be re-established and classes streamed according to ability. Incompetent teachers must be sacked.

SAY NO TO EUROPE!
Membership of the European Union is costing us a fortune. We're the second highest contributor to European funds. We buy much more from Europe than we sell to it. Due to the Common Agricultural Policy, our food is also much more expensive. Our fishing industry has almost been destroyed. Petty bureaucratic regulations interfere with our traditions and take over our lives. Our country is being seized by unelected officials in Brussels. The politicians lied to get us into Europe — we were never meant to be just a trading bloc. Our involvement in the EU has become a nightmare. It's time to get out!

REBUILD OUR INDUSTRY
At one time Britain led the world in manufacturing. Now we barely make anything of real importance. We've become like a third world country — dependent on imports for most of the manufactured products we use, and with an inefficient and unsafe transport system. True prosperity in the modern world depends on manufacturing industry, backed up by high technology. Britain's industries are in a state of collapse — with the result — a loss of jobs and a loss of quality manufactured goods. We must impose import controls and encourage investment into new factories. This is the only way to create real jobs and give our young people a future.

leaffleting is the key to increased recruitment. These are first class propaganda weapons. Use them to build the British Resistance!

All these children would be alive today if our spineless politicians had the guts to declare war on the paedophiles

The killers of all these children were either known or convicted paedophiles — like dozens of other child-killers. How many more must die before something is done? Only when we lock away the perverts who prey on our children, removing them from society completely, will our streets and playgrounds be safe again. And for paedophiles who kill their victims, the only just punishment is the rope!

ANTI-PAEDOPHILE LEAFLET

Child molesters are big news so promote the party's popular stance on sex killers. Gasp as the public snatch these leaflets out of your hands to pass on to their friends. Gasp as they start to leaflet on your behalf! Both these leaflets are A4, 2-sided, single colour, priced at £10 per thousand with postal charges of £6.40/1,000 and £8.55/2,000.

CONSERVATIVE? NOT ANY MORE!

A PARTY that stands for the family. A party that stands up for the victims of crime, and for the effective punishment of criminals. A party that promotes decency and rejects perversion. A party that stands for Britain, and for the silent majority. A party that stands for you. Very probably, that used to be the Conservative Party — but times have changed!

It's true that more and more of what is going wrong in our country today is the fault of the Labour Government, but deciding to vote against Blair & Co. next time isn't enough to turn things around. After all, the present rot started under the last government.

Cutting mortgage interest tax relief, slashing university grants, and the skiving of the social security system to favour single parents over married couples, were all anti-family policies dreamed up by the Tories. Similarly, it was the last Conservative Government which signed the Maastricht Treaty and so condemned Britain to be subsumed in a Federal Europe.

The Tories talk about "preserving the British identity," about "family values" and "listening" to ordinary people. But don't be fooled by what they say, look at what they do!

The 'Con' Party
William Hague (pictured chasing the 'ethnic' vote at the Notting Hill carnival) may talk like a 'Euro-sceptic', but he has fixed the lists of approved European Election candidates so as to force local Tory party activists to adopt pro-Federal European candidates. The baseball-cap wearing 'traditionalist' may talk about 'family values', but he supported the disgusting Labour attempt to make it legal for grown men to hugger schoolboys. Many of the Conservative MPs who voted for this perversion's charter are themselves homosexuals.

One of Hague's up-and-coming MPs, right-wing, bachelor Alan Duncan, has gone even further. His Rutland constituents found themselves facing a threat to house the convicted paedophile child-killer, Robert Oliver, in a hostel in the village of Wing, which naturally asked for his help in stopping this deadly threat. Yet, instead of taking notice of his constituents' concerns for their children's freedom, innocence and lives, Duncan sided instead with the liberal do-gooders backing the pervers. So much for "listening to Britain!"

With William Hague's continued support, Duncan criticised his own constituents for "intolerance" and attacked British National Party members who picked the hostel as 'extremists'. Yet can you honestly think of anything more extreme than forcing the parents of a law-abiding village to accept into their midst a sadistic child-rapist and multiple murderer?

OUT OF WORK? "DO THE FULL MONTY!"

says Tony Blair

"GET 'EM OFF!" That's the insulting message sent by Tony Blair to the unemployed and low-waged as his government's policies plunge Britain into yet another unnecessary recession.

Speaking in Sheffield while launching a programme to force the young unemployed into 'cheap labour rip-offs' and pointless 'make-work' schemes, Blair had the barefaced cheek to tell us that the unemployed should follow the example of the redundant steelworkers who 'retire' as strikers in the film The Full Monty.

That, he lectured, was a good example of the sort of flexibility needed to get a job in Britain today!

What a nerve! The Tories closed down whole industries, but even they only said: "Get on your bike!" Now Labour are closing down what's left and, with no real jobs around, they want us to "Get 'Em Off!"

Blair not only thinks it's funny to see skilled men trying to earn the money to keep their families together by stripping in the guttered shell of their old workplace —

THEME-PARK BRITAIN

How 'politically correct' townies are killing our country

ANOTHER farmhouse lies derelict, either to fall down or to become a yuppie weekend cottage. Yet another family swallowed up in the city, while more and more farms every year are taken over by City speculators, while village schools, pubs and shops become holiday homes. Rural Britain has been systematically neglected and exploited by a system based on 'values' and short-term greed. What has this got to do with Field Sports? Everything!

Our masters in Westminster and the media have forgotten that a healthy countryside is the backbone of a nation. Their only concern is to preserve a few pretty bits as a summer theme park and tourist trap. The idea of a rural Britain that stands on its own feet, which has its own industries, traditions and sports actually forgotten our urban masters, because it doesn't need them. They need our taxes, but rural Britain doesn't need the parasites in parliament. Whilst all the TV audiences, but people who don't need the 'help' make those power-grubbers uneasy. That's why they love the 'politically correct' townies are killing our country, and it's why they hate the real people of rural Britain.

That's the real reason for their attack on country sports. Animal welfare doesn't come into it. If it did, they'd do something about the scandal of hual and kosher ritual slaughter, whereby hundreds of thousands of animals every day are slowly bled to death without any pre-kill up, in ways which would land any other slaughterman in prison. But the Labour Party and most animal welfare fanatics turn a blind eye to this religious savagery, just as they ignore the huge numbers of lambs taken by foxes and badgers. After all, rusty foxes are politically correct, whereas shaggy dogs and our traditions and livelihoods don't count. We only built this country, we only pay the taxes — so we don't count!

As a matter of fact, the masters of urbanised Britain don't give a damn about farms either. If they did, they would be so keen to condemn them to slow death by poison, habitat-destruction and gangrene from bullet wounds (where are they going to find mankind in a country where they've outlawed target shooting?). What they really care about is destroying our identity, our sense of belonging, our nationhood. To hundreds of thousands of British, their sense of identity is intricately bound up with hunting or other field sports — that's why they're the latest target.

That's also why weather 'forecasters' don't use temperatures which actually mean something any more. That's why you can't buy pre-packed potatoes by the pound any more. That's why the county regiments have been amalgamated out of existence. That's why our kids come home from school knowing more about 'colonial exploitation' in Africa than about our own history. That's why TV sports portray homosexual perversion as acceptable, even preferable. That's why our cities (because British people there are targets too) have been filled with hideous tower blocks and with shengens from every part of the globe. That's why our political and economic freedoms are being submerged in a European super-state. That's why they won't leave anything alone.

What we are facing is the organised destruction of our identity and freedom by an out of touch but immensely powerful political and media elite. It can only be stopped, let alone reversed, when large numbers of ordinary Britons unite and organise to resist and reverse the process — when we British organise to take back control of our own country. That's the purpose of the British National Party.

COUNTRYSIDE LEAFLET

Country folk are under attack and the party spells out its policies to regenerate the countryside, provide jobs and maintain the rural way of life. Both these leaflets are A4, 2-sided, single colour, priced at £10 per thousand with postal charges of £6.40/1,000 and £8.55/2,000.

Left: Albanian immigrants pour off a freighter into Italy. Once they're in the country, it's easy for them to join the flood of immigrants and bogus 'asylum-seekers' pouring into Britain.

that Britain should continue to take in, house, feed and care for thousands of 'asylum-seekers' at a time when homelessness and hospital waiting lists are rising steadily?

that Labour and LibDem councils are right to keep putting native-born British people to the back of the housing queue?

that the Home Secretary is right to give us extra 30,000 'asylum-seekers' the right to stay in Britain just because the authorities haven't been able to investigate their often bogus claims as to why they should be allowed in?

that it's right to build new houses on Green Belt land in order to make room for 150,000 extra immigrants every year?

that it was right or democratic to allow mass immigration to change the face of our country without the politicians even asking us if we wanted?

'NO' EVERY TIME? That's what we think too. That's why we're building the British National Party. And why you should join our campaign to put the British people first, before immigrants and bogus 'asylum-seekers'.

Stop Labour's Attack on the Welfare State

(top left) Attacking Labour where it hurts! This is the leaflet that stakes the party's claim to represent blue collar workers from a Labour party which has abandoned them.

Price £6.00 per 1,000 plus £5.15 p&p for 1,000 and £5.80 for 2,000.

Five new leaflets out now (above) include: Save Our Sterling The BNP's spearhead campaign against EMU and the EU leading in to next year's elections; Stop the building! The party's 'green belt' leaflet — links building with immigration; Conservative? Not any more! A savage indictment of the modern Tory party; Out of Work? On your Bike! A devastating put down of all three establishment parties and their free-trade ideology, but especially attacking Labour; and Do You Think? The leaflet that challenges people to reevaluate political loyalties. These are 2-sided, 2-colour leaflets price £8.00 per 1,000 plus £5.15 p&p for 1,000 and £5.80 for 2,000.

'Hot Cross Bun' leaflet (left) So called because of the Red St. George Cross theme on this 2-sided, 2-colour leaflet. Excellent general all-round leaflet. £9.50 per 1,000 plus £5.15 p&p for 1,000 and £5.80 for 2,000.

Stop the Race Attacks!

This leaflet slams all race attacks, but focuses on the wave of race-hate attacks against white people and which the politicians are ignoring. Only the BNP is speaking up against the race attacks!

Price £6.00 per 1,000 plus £5.15 p&p for 1,000 and £5.80 for 2,000.

Defend Britain's Fishermen! (Not shown) Attacks the betrayal of the fishing industry and sets out the party's solution of a 200-mile limit and fish stock management.

Hang Child Murderers! (far left) Ever popular call for the death penalty for the killing of little children.

Join Us! (Not shown) Highly successful recruitment leaflet following the party's win in Millwall. A summons to battle.

These three leaflets are £5.50 per 1,000 plus £5.15 p&p for 1,000 and £5.80 p&p for 2,000.

LABOUR AND TORIES ON THE RACK

Two in five people are convinced that Britain is becoming a worse place to live. Blair's problems continue as support for Labour has dropped following the Mandelson loan resignation by between 3 and 7 per cent. At the same time, the Tories have seen their poll ratings slip by three points with the beneficiaries being the Lib-Dems.

● Donations to the Tories have fallen almost £30 million since their election defeat and have run up a £12 million deficit.

More than a third of local Tory Associations have not raised anything at all.

● Conservative councillor Shakir Saghir was chased at speed by a police patrol car through narrow Halifax streets with a wanted man in the passenger seat. Saghir has been disqualified from driving for a year and fined £400. Outstanding fines for other traffic offences total another £500.

● Would be dictator and widely acknowledged control freak Tony Blair is still being damaged by attempting to block democratic choice within the Labour Party. Ken Livingstone is the party favourite for London Mayor and Rhodri Morgan is the favourite for leader of the Welsh assembly. Blair has different ideas and is attempting to stifle any real choice.

On the subject of choice, most people think referendums a good thing. Blair thinks so too — providing he knows that he can buy the result in advance as he did with the Welsh Assembly referendum. MPs are therefore seeking rules by which referenda are held. Martin

Bell, the independent MP for Tatton wants referendums taken out of the hands of government. The Neill report on referendums recommended that the government should stay neutral in any referendum — something that Ministers have already rejected.

● Mohammad Niwaz, Labour councillor for Sandwell has appeared in court accused of illegally obtaining £20,000 in housing grants.

● Birmingham Labour councillors have awarded themselves extra cash from the pockets of council taxpayers by abolishing various allowances and replacing them with a one-off allowance of £2,000. With that cash safely under their belt, individual allowances are creeping back in to cover child care, attendance at meetings and telephone installation.

● Labour has broken a pre-election promise not to go ahead with an open cast mine in a Nottinghamshire beauty spot. Labour MP, Nick Palmer won the Broxtowe seat on the strength of a promise from the BNP in Ilkeston. Since then, the town is getting its identity smashed by the Marxist council and government. At the last General Election, Liz Blackman, the Labour MP had her name stuck on every lamppost throughout the town but I was caught on camera sticking up an old Keep Hong Kong Chinese out of Britain which I was later taken to court for and fined £150. What double standards! It seems we are the wrong colour in our once great land. Best wishes for the future.

Supporter, Derbyshire.

Sir — An old folks home is planned for closure here locally. A strong rumour is that the closure is to make way for a mosque on the same site. The future will tell.

More attacks have taken place, some in, or close to the Werneth area of Oldham. The public really need to be informed that several areas of Oldham are unsafe for white people, who should be encouraged to travel in groups should they need to pass through these areas.

Mr. Bernard, Oldham.

Sir — When my generation was young in the twenties and thirties we hardly heard a foreign accent or saw a coloured person and although far from affluent, we all had that feeling of engendered patriotism which is certainly far from predominant today for the simple reason (if you enter a bus) it is likely you are the only indigenous person on it.

With the frequent talk of referendums, it has never been explained why one was never held forty or fifty years ago to discover if the electorate wanted a considerable amount of foreign peoples to live and work amongst us, including an unknown number of criminals.

Is it not time that our own people were made aware that with the absence of peoples of foreign origin, their lives would be made safer and in a more affluent society?

SCHOOL VISIT FIRST FOR BNP

WAVE OF PUBLICITY FOLLOWS EVENT

NATIONAL Press Officer Mike Newland scored a first for the BNP by speaking to a meeting of pupils and staff at the prestigious public school Dulwich College in South London towards the end of November. Bexley & Dartford Organiser Colin Smith accompanied Mike to the school.

The hall in which the meeting was held was packed out with at least 200 people — dozens more being turned away owing to lack of space. The hour-long meeting before a heavily ethnic audience, was good homelands. Mike instanced South American Indians, who were losing their living space to loggers, and the same applied to Britons.

During questions, one white pupil who claimed that the BNP promoted violence was greeted with groans and laughter. That hoary old tale will no longer wash even in multi-racial schools! One Asian put his foot in it by saying that since we had invaded his country, he did not see why the same should not be done in reverse! At the end of the meeting, the Asian who organised the meeting shook Mike's hand and said that he had a lot of guts.

The speech set off a furore in several newspapers, and on the radio with The Times running an editorial saying that the BNP should be allowed access to Universities so that people could see for themselves how stupid we are! The deceptively named Commission for Racial Equality jumped in with the usual nonsense. Since the CRE recently supported a march by the black separatist Nation of Islam, its complaints were somewhat hollow sounding — as Mike Newland later told the press.

A report also appeared in The Times claiming that Mike had to be escorted from the meeting by protectors owing to the fury his talk provoked. This tale is thought to have originated from a close associate of the BNP's old friend Helen Brinton, the MP for Peterborough. In fact, there was not even a heckle as he left to join staff for tea in the Common Room. The Times then contacted the party and ran a second report which was impeccably fair and accurate, not only quoting the school as calling Mike intelligent — even if it did not share his views — but also summarising the speech.

Letters on the subject were still appearing in the press two weeks later, including ones from Zionist and black groups in Universities saying that they supported freedom of speech provided no one said anything they disagreed with! The Times then printed a letter from party Chairman John Tyndall saying that it was time the BNP was given a fair hearing, and that the establishment were scared that patriotic views might prove too popular if the public knew what was actually being said by the BNP.

The BNP warmly thanks the Asian pupil who invited the party to Dulwich College — the invitation coming via one of the party's Internet sites — another example of the importance of the new technology in putting out the patriotic message.

MIKE NEWLAND: National Press Officer

humoured but boisterous, with both boos and cheers when Mike arrived. Asian and black students made it very clear whose views came first at the school — in fact the invitation to speak came from an Asian pupil who displayed a commendable commitment to freedom of speech for which he deserves full credit.

Mike's speech, titled 'The New Nationalism' discussed the myth that Britain had 'won the war' when, in reality, we had become a US satellite as a result. He then went on to say that immigration had been imposed upon Britain with no democratic mandate, and by telling a pack of lies. It was, he said, time that the individual human rights agenda promoted since the war was extended to communal human rights by peoples — black or white — who wanted to keep their SURELY as a 'democrat' Jackie Ballard MP should be happy to have all political viewpoints expressed on local and national issues that concern her constituents.

Instead, we find her 'distressed' (Somerset County Gazette, August 14) at the prospect of any British National Party member being active in Taunton.

Does she not realise that similar sentiments could be expressed by those who find the policies of the Liberal Democrats offensive?

BNP move into town

A branch of the British National Party is being set up in the Glastonbury area.

Spokesman Paul Harris said Glastonbury Town Council deserved credit for trying to sort out problems caused by travellers.

"Unfortunately the people in real authority, DSS executive officers and police chief superintendents simply ignore the Residents' Association, and therefore the Glastonbury electorate and democratic process as well. A nationally known party will not be so easy to ignore," he said.

BNP and freedom of speech

A LETTER was printed in Postbag (August 21) demanding that the British National Party should be denied freedom of speech. 'Name and address supplied' justified this by claiming that a BNP

Government would abolish freedom of speech.

This is incorrect as the BNP takes the issue of human rights very seriously and we are particularly concerned that the 'silent majority' has no rights at present as highlighted by the present paedophile crisis in Somerset.

Bearing in mind the totalitarian Stalinist regimes that misruled eastern Europe for decades, does 'Name and address supplied' also think that Socialist parties in Britain should be denied their freedom of speech as well?

Leaflet rapped

A LEAFLET delivered to homes across Bristol calling for child-killers to be executed has been blasted for linking paedophiles with gays.

The British National Party leaflet posted through letterboxes around the city has been criticised by the NSPCC, the Aled Richards Trust and MP Doug Naysmith.

It calls for a crackdown on paedophiles while slamming proposed legislation to lower the homosexual age of consent.

Bristol North West MP Doug Naysmith has dismissed as "obnoxious rubbish" its claims that lowering the legal age to 16 will encourage paedophiles.

He is backed by Bristol-based HIV charity the Aled Richards Trust - while the NSPCC has hit out at a quote attributed to the charity in the leaflet.

The sheet which is being distributed all over the country is fronted by a photograph of six children which it says were murdered by paedophiles.

It calls for child-killers to be executed, before hitting out at gays.

"The eagerness of MPs to reduce the age of consent for homosexuals to just 16 sends out a message of tolerance and tacit approval to pervers who prey on young boys," the leaflet states.

"The continual barrage of pro-homosexual propaganda on television, radio and in the press has helped to create the climate in which these evil creatures feel they can operate virtually in the open."

The leaflet is headed by a quote purportedly from the NSPCC, which says paedophiles in Britain are "as well organised as the Mafia".

'We do not want BNP in Lichfield'

THE ANTI-IMMIGRATION British National Party was this week warned it will find no foothold in Lichfield, despite naming it as a key target area for the New Year.

The ultra-right wing party believes it can rally strong support in the traditional and rural Lichfield area and aims to raise its profile in time for next year's European Parliament elections.

The BNP claims the country and farming community is fed up with the government over BSE and fox hunting, while city residents are worried about overspill from Birmingham. It has established branches in Cannock, Mid Staffordshire and Tamworth, and now Lichfield is next on the hit list.

Outrage

But the city's religious and political leaders this week greeted the news with moral outrage, saying the BNP would find little British National Party in complete contradiction to their religious convictions.

And district Conservative leader, Councillor David Smith, said: "The policies of the BNP have no meaning as far as this area goes. They are totally out of touch with the business of local politics if they wish to bring immigration into it."

Report by Neil Elkes

Religious and political leaders condemn plans for city branch of ultra-right wing British National Party

WITH the extensive report in last month's BN keeping out all other activity news, this edition comes packed full of news and headlines to make up for it.

All over the country, the British National Party is getting the message out: campaigning, leafleting, canvassing, giving media interviews, grabbing the headlines and even writing the humble letter or two.

Below is an excellent letter from Coventry BNP's press officer which not only spelt out the party's line on child-killing pederasts, but which also got the party's local contact address into the local paper there to be seen by its entire readership.

This isn't the first time that this has happened and it proves the value of a well written letter to the local press.

With the European Elections in the offing, party officials should be writing to local papers on a regular basis putting the argument against the EU and pointing out that the BNP will be fielding a full slate of candidates right across the country! If people don't like the Euro and the EU, they can vote BNP!

NO TO EXTREMISTS

TRADERS in the worst hit area of crime in Todmorden have distanced themselves from attempts by political extremists to recruit them to their ranks.

In a letter to Todmorden Town Council, the traders from Water Street distanced themselves from British National Party flyers, calling for "zero tolerance". The traders also submitted a petition to the town council calling for the installation of spy cameras along their crime ridden stretch.

The mystery BNP recruitment flyers were posted through shop letterboxes a fortnight ago.

By Peter Devine and Amanda Chadwick

The flyer, which included reference to a newspaper article on the problems of rising crime for traders in Todmorden, encouraged traders to solve their problems by joining the BNP.

The flyers stated: "We simply wish you to know that we are the only political organisation in this country prepared to do what is necessary to restore this land to something which is fit for our children to live in."

"Amongst our extensive policy agenda is a zero-tolerance level of all crime with special treatment being reserved for drug dealers who turn our children into addicts. Time is running out."

In a letter read out to members of the town's development committee trader Brenda Pierce made it clear that the Water Street signatories didn't want to be associated with any militant group.

Mrs Pierce also complained about the attitude of fellow town trader Mr Alan Fielder who she spoke with recently.

"His concern was the amount of burglaries in the area, having had his premises broken into twice. I was amazed at his attitude. He wants a march on the police station, banners blazing and demonstrators demanding extra policing."

"The main idea to embarrass the police and force them to take action."

Development committee member Coun Steve Martin said that he felt everyone was on the same side in preventing militants from seizing the political initiative.

"There's a rumour that the same people may attend our meeting (October 28 - with Calder Valley Police Superintendent Nigel Sutcliffe) with banners and make their nauseous comments in the town."

Coun Martin said that he would like to see greater cooperation between police, residents and shopkeepers in ways of reducing crime and demands for spy cameras.

"We don't want to be tainting our environment, so we will discuss this with the police when they come."

Committee chairman Coun John Oldham said that he felt that civil liberty considerations could not be ignored.

"However, I support Coun Martin, he added Coun Frank McManus agreed: "It's a tragedy of our times that this sort of surveillance is necessary. I would prefer people didn't know where I was."

Members agreed to write to Calderdale Council to ask what provision there was for cameras to be installed in the town.

Mr Alan Fielder denied on Wednesday that he was involved in circulating the BNP flyers in the town.

"It's ridiculous to suggest I was involved. We had them (the flyers) down here on Halifax Road as well."

Mr Fielder said that while he disagreed with the tone and comments on the flyer, he did agree with one of the points the mystery writer had made.

"I would support their treatment of drug dealers," he added.

Don't shield Cooke

REFERENCE the article "Dad's Contempt For Sex Killer"

The British National Party are committed to reforming the laws that currently shield people like Sidney Cooke. On release from their usually short terms of custody, they are allowed to mingle into normal society, and our own communities to repeat their previous degeneracy.

Paedophiles are protected by the establishment at the tax-payer's expense. Then, we frequently hear and read of our elected politicians voting to lower the age of consent for homosexuals. This would add to the misery of the situation. The British National Party helped residents of Exhall ensure that the sex offenders centre (planned for Alderman McDonnell House) stayed closed. We have no time for weak, liberal policies. Capital Punishment is the only viable solution.

BNP under attack for 'racist agenda'

DARTFORD'S MEP, Peter Skinner, has condemned the launch of a European Election campaign by the British National Party in the town.

Speaking after the launch of a campaign by the British National Party in Dartford, local Labour MEP Peter Skinner called on right wing extremists to cease wrapping their 'xenophobia' in the British flag.

He said: "The BNP stand on a platform of xenophobia and have no genuine policies which merit consideration by the people of this area."

"They have a racist agenda which they are trying to popularise by creating a great deal of fear about Europe."

The European Parliament has called on political parties in all 15 nations to sign an agreement to keep race out of their campaigns in June's elections.

Russell Bradley, Dartford BNP's press officer, said that in the battle for the South-East's 11 seats the group would be looking to capitalise on issues such as Dartford's recent immigration crisis and allegations of malpractice by EC commissioners.

He continued:

"Immigration is becoming invasion and if that is classed as a race issue by the European Parliament it is wrong."

"They are being totalitarian and restricting our freedom of speech. We oppose immigration on economic and environmental grounds."

He added: "The single currency will not help trade. It will just make a few fat cat currency dealers even richer. To drum up support for our 'Save Our Sterling' campaign we have stepped up leafletting activities on a number of Dartford's estates."

The Instant Response Group wrapped up the end of last year with a burst of activity. During late November a mass lobby of Parliament was organised by 'Farmers in Crisis.' Thousands were expected, but only a few dozen turned up to lobby their MP's. The poor turn out was due to a last minute Government hand-out to the industry. Nevertheless, the IRG was out in force, handing out the new 'Who's Culling Britain's Farmers?' leaflets.

MP's were also leafleted as they entered the House of Commons, including Gillian Shepard, Sir Norman Fowler, Austin Mitchell and Tony Banks. Banks flew into a mad rage after realising he was reading a BNP leaflet!

●The IRG also teamed up with Mid Staffs BNP, to target the National Prime Stock show, held at Stafford. Farmers from all over the nation were in attendance and a great many leaflets were distributed with an excellent response.

●Soon after the party's Annual Rally, the IRG were out again, this time with South Wales BNP at the Royal Welsh Winter Agricultural show held at Builth Wells. BNP activists received a warm Welsh welcome from the many disillusioned hill farmers, who have seen their incomes halved over the last year (2000 leaflets were given out).

A few days later on radio Maldwyn (covering Central Wales), Glynn Davies, a prospective Tory candidate for the Welsh assembly, was heard saying that the BNP was "jumping on the bandwagon" and the best thing Welsh farmers could do was to throw their leaflets in the dustbin. Within hours, the BNP's Media Monitoring Unit had faxed the radio station a press statement which indicated that the BNP wholeheartedly supported British Farmers. BNP farming spokesman Terry Cavill was quoted as saying that when the Tories were in power they completely messed up the BSE situation and created the present farming crisis, and that no one should trust them again! This coup for the party was heard all day long leaving Tory twit Davies with egg on his face.

●The last event of the year focused on yet another closure of a live stock market, this time Bury St. Edmunds in Suffolk, which has been a hub of local rural life for hundreds of years. An exceptional welcome was received by the BNP team, as local farmers lamented the end of an era. One elderly man said that he had been going to the market for over 60 years and that it was the only place where local farmers could socialise and exchange gossip. It was a particularly sad day and a sign of the further erosion of our British way of life.

●In December, IRG activists picketed a conference addressed by George Soros the multi-billionaire currency speculator. The address was part of Soros' promotion of his new book The Crisis of Global Capitalism.

This opportunity was used to good effect by IRG activists to distribute hundreds of leaflets to the academics, economists and businessmen attending which agreed with Soros' analysis that Global capitalism is in crisis, but that the nationalist alternative (which Soros fears) is not a bad thing and indeed is our only hope.

Mr Soros told the audience that global capitalism was fundamentally flawed, that one-third of the world was in recession and there was on oversupply of almost all commodities.

A recurring theme was the fear of xenophobia and nationalism, which he said was an impedance to global capitalism. One of Soros' close friends has been quoted as saying: "Soros is terrified of right-wing nationalism."

Finally at the end of the talk there was a questions and answer session. One man asked: "What is the role of trade unions and working people in your new capitalist order?" "I don't know, I haven't given it much thought," Soros answered, grinning.

ACTIVITY FILE

In Northern Ireland, Ulster BNP were very busy in the run up to Christmas with a paper sale at a football match, another paper sale and leaflet distribution at the Apprentice Boys parade in Londonderry; a meeting and a wreath laying ceremony for Ulster BNP's remembrance.

In East and North London, activists have also been busy raising the party's profile in readiness for the European Elections and have toured various markets and shopping centres handing out the party's Save Our Sterling leaflet. Crisp Street and Roman Road markets in Tower Hamlets, and markets at Romford, Hoxton, Islington, Camden, Kentish Town and St. John's Wood have all been visited as have shopping centres at Wood Green and Edmonton.

ASYLUM-SEEKERS GIVE BNP A BOOST

RIGHT-wing group the British National Party is hoping to gain recruits in Thanet because of the problems the area is facing with asylum-seekers.

Members have distributed hundreds of leaflets in Margate and Cliftonville urging residents to sign up to the party and accusing councils of ignoring British nationals in favour of immigrants.

It claims asylum-seekers are allowed to jump housing queues and taxpayers are forced to meet their medical costs and benefits.

Propaganda

South Thanet MP Steve Ladyman is quoted in the party's press release as saying Thanet can't cope with any more asylum-seekers.

But he has labelled the group racist and xenophobic and says he hopes Thanet people won't be taken in by its propaganda.

"I stand by what I said, but I don't agree with their hard-line views," he said.

"Thanet can only support a few asylum-seekers, but while they are here we need understanding of each other's problems."

"The BNP is a thoroughly racist and xenophobic organization and I hope no-one joins up." He agreed bogus claimants should be forced out but said genuine asylums needed the support and understanding of all Thanet residents.

The BNP's Kent organizer, Mike Easter, says the campaign was launched in response to enquiries from residents fed up with supporting foreigners in Thanet.

"People are wiseing up as to what's going on in the world," he said. "They are asking questions like 'why are our taxes going up?'"

Mr. Easter claimed people living in the Channel ports are scared of violent and unfriendly immigrants and warned the situation would lead to an unstable society which could even result in another Bosnia.

He blamed problems on current immigration laws and said the party would ban all foreigners - even those seeking work - if voted into Parliament. These people should not be allowed in the country," he said. "We don't believe it's England's job to look after the rest of the world."

"We are completely against a united Europe, but that's not to say we could not stay friends."

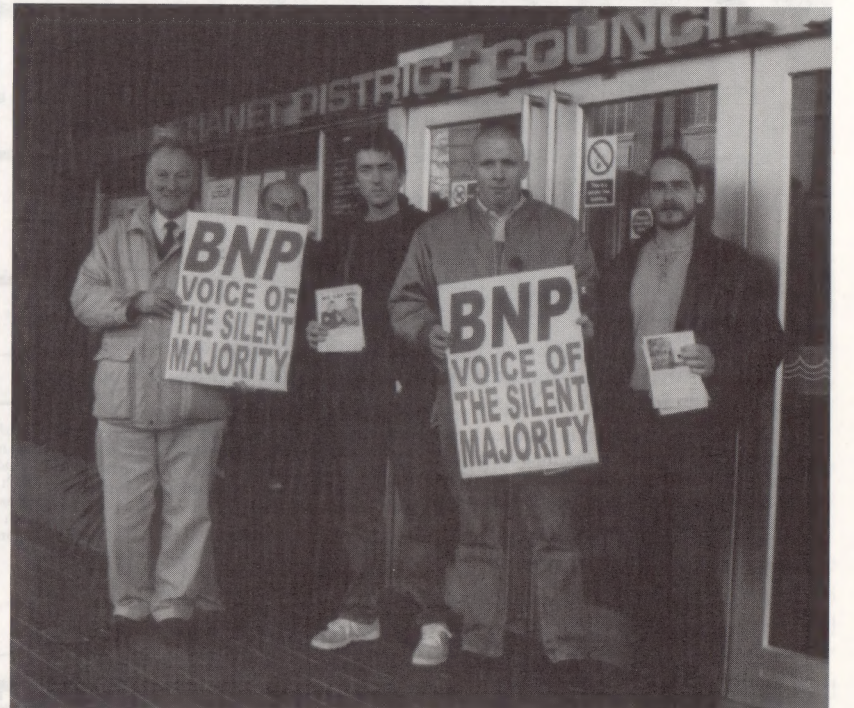

BNP ACTION!

BNP activists in Kent blitzed Folkestone with party publicity material in the run up to Christmas. Regional Organizer Mike Easter appeared on Medway TV to state the party's position on the influx of gypsies entering Folkestone, Dover and the other channel ports.

Mike came across as very sensible in his interview and will have done the party a lot of good in an area clearly very fertile for the party.

Indeed, the party's activity rate in Kent stands at an all time high, with regular work being done all over the county from Ashford to Canterbury and Dartford to Dover.

The result of all this good work has been not just an appearance on Medway TV, but front page publicity in the Folkestone Herald and the Thanet Times which both reproduced the party's Do You Think leaflet complete with phone number!

Parents accuse BNP of hi-jacking cause

HOUSEHOLDERS have accused political extremists of "jumping on the bandwagon" by handing out anti-paedophile propaganda on a South Derbyshire estate.

Activists from the British National Party (BNP) yesterday distributed hundreds of leaflets on the Elmsleigh Drive estate in Midway calling for child murderers to be executed.

It came two days after almost 300 residents attended a meeting to vent anger at South Derbyshire Council for agreeing to find homes for sex offenders in the district.

But householders, who have launched a petition calling for the decision to be overturned, today blasted the BNP for "hijacking" a local issue for its own political ends.

Leading campaigner Mick Mulgrew claimed the party was

"preying on the weak" by giving leaflets to frightened mums.

He said: "I want to make it quite plain that this is a local issue, not a political one."

"We do not want to be associated or affiliated in any way with the BNP, which is simply jumping on the bandwagon."

Petition co-organiser Jean Brookes said: "We don't want them interfering."

Councillors have decided not to impose a blanket ban on sex offenders moving into its properties over fears the restriction would not stand up legally.

Council leader Jane Carroll today repeated her insistence the move would provide greater protection for members of the public as each housing application would be carefully scrutinised.

Coun Carroll backed residents by describing the BNP's involvement as "appalling".

Andrew Mansfield, organiser of the BNP's Burton branch, denied the party was using residents' fears for its own political agenda.

He claimed in a prepared statement it had always backed the death penalty for child murderers and life sentences for other sex offenders.

Protesters are hoping to hand over their petition to South Derbyshire Labour MP Mark Todd soon.

This headline provided much merriment for members in Staffordshire BNP. BN readers can see no less than two different leaflets on the question of pederasts and child-killers on page 5 of this paper. The BNP has led the field in demanding capital punishment for these monsters for years. As usual, the 'parents' turned out to be members of the local Labour Party who are acutely aware that their own party's desire to make 16-year-old boys legally available to pervers is deeply unpopular.

Euro '99 Fund

Target £75,000 Total so far £41,216

New rules for the European Elections mean that for the party to qualify for a TV broadcast, the party will have to contest every region within any of our island's four nations. That means while a TV broadcast can be had in Scotland for just £5,000, a broadcast in England can only be had by contesting every English region. This means contesting an extra four English regions costing an extra £20,000 in deposits alone. The party leadership has taken up the challenge and is determined to fight all of England! That means raising extra cash for the Euro '99 fund. The fund target is now £75,000! Help the party surmount this challenge and dig deep.

Last month, £2,131 was raised by individuals for the party's Euro '99 fund. This includes donations to the party's 180 Club. That brings the total from individuals to £26,767. Scrappy returns by Organisers last month show an increase of just £487 giving a regional/branch total of £14,449. This makes a grand total so far of £41,216.

There are barely four months left before the election in June. Four months in which to raise £35,000. The time to give is now!

What we stand for

- The establishment of a government of national unity that will put an end to nationally divisive party warfare; the return of leadership and statesmanship to British affairs.
- An end to immigration and a start to repatriation.
- British withdrawal from the European Union: trade with Europe where it suits us but no political ties, and no monetary union.
- The disbanding of the multi-racial Commonwealth and its replacement by a new Commonwealth of self-governing white states.
- British ownership and control of British industry and resources.
- Protection of British jobs and industry by the selective exclusion of foreign manufactured goods from the British market.
- An end to the financial swindle that causes inflation and slump, and its replacement by a sane and fair financial system that will give the people the purchasing power to buy the goods they produce.
- The subordination of the power of the City to the power of Government, and the harnessing of the City to the needs of British industry.
- The regeneration of British farming, with the object of achieving the maximum self-sufficiency in food; also the restoration of the fishing industry by protection of our traditional fishing grounds.
- A healthy environment for a healthy people — the protection of our countryside, firm measures against pollution and an end to the architectural disfigurement of our towns and cities.
- A crack-down on crime and tougher treatment of criminals, including the return of the death penalty for child killers and terrorists.
- A return to traditional methods of education, with stronger discipline in the classroom and the sacking of 'trendy' teachers.
- An alternative defence strategy: withdrawal from NATO; closure of all foreign military and air bases in Britain; British withdrawal from the war in former Yugoslavia, where no British interest is at stake; the bringing home of British forces from Germany; the strengthening of Britain's defences and a position of armed neutrality.
- An end to overseas aid and the allocation of the money saved to the financing of repatriation and greater help for the needy at home.
- The crushing of the IRA, the termination of the Anglo-Irish agreement and firm support for the loyalist majority in Northern Ireland.
- A return to healthy moral values aimed at strengthening the family and community.
